

Japs Suspicious Of Harding's Offer; Fear Racial Discrimination

TOKIO, July 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Japan's answer to President Harding's proposal for a conference on limitation of armaments, which has been forwarded to Washington, while accepting the suggestion for an armament conference, says the Jiji Shimpo, today, makes reservations concerning general Far Eastern problems until more has been learned as to the scope and nature of the questions to be considered.

What the significance is of President Harding's call for a Far Eastern conference and how such a conference would affect Japan's future position in world affairs are the queries dominating public discussion.

Generally speaking, the fear is voiced that Japan may be forced to play a lone hand and have another diplomatic battle on her hands similar to that at the Paris peace conference.

In an article which seemed to reflect the representative view, the NICHU NICHU SHIMBUN DECLARED THAT SO LONG AS THE POWERS PRACTICE RACIAL DISCRIMINATION AGAINST JAPAN IN THE UNITED STATES, CANADA, AUSTRALIA, NEW ZEALAND AND ELSEWHERE, WHILE DEMANDING THE ENFORCEMENT OF EQUAL PRIVILEGES AND EQUAL OPPORTUNITIES IN THE FAR EAST, JAPAN SHOULD CAREFULLY CONSIDER BEFORE JOINING IN SUCH CONFERENCE.

If, however, the powers intend to abolish the existing limitation on the Japanese, establish a world wide open door principle and recognize the equality of the Japanese with other peoples, says the newspaper, then the invitation should be accepted.

Japan must regard as a menace the gradual concentration of warships in the Pacific, while the increasing of American fortifications in the Pacific, includes those of Guam, near the coast of Japan argues the newspaper, shows that an agreement must be reached for the cessation of fortification works on the Pacific coast and at the naval bases in Hawaii and Manila.

"The invitation will have a bearing on the future history of Japan," continues the article.

"We believe the idea in part represents Great Britain's tactical method of extracting herself from her Far Eastern entanglements and also preventing America and Japan increasing their navies against Great Britain's."

The militarist journal, the Kokumin Shimbun, DOUBTS THE SINCERITY OF THE AMERICAN INVITATION, AND IT URGES THE JAPANESE TO REMEMBER HOW AMERICA "DUPED THE WORLD" CONCERNING THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS. THE POWERS, IT SAYS, SHOULD MAKE SURE WHETHER THE UNITED STATES INTENDS TO ADHERE TO THE AGREEMENTS WHICH MAY BE REACHED AT THE FORTHCOMING CONFERENCE.

In welcoming the idea of the conference, Baron Yoshio Sakatani, former financial minister, said the extent of the limitation of armaments was so closely connected with considerations of the balance of power in the Pacific, as well as with the industrial capacities of the different powers that the conclusion of a practical agreement would in his views attend with difficulties.

JAP STRIKERS IN ATTEMPTS TO CONTROL DOCK YARDS

KOBE, JAPAN, July 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Troops were called out today after thousands of striking workers in the dock yards here had charged a police cordon in an attempt to take possession of the dock yards and carry out a project for their control by the workers. A number of the strikers were wounded and the ring-leaders of the movement were arrested.

All the dock yards have been closed for ten days and demonstrations have been prohibited.

Strike leaders yesterday threatened to employ methods of Italian workers who took over and operated metal and other plants in Italy, unless the dock yard employers made concessions. Demands of strikers included an increase in wages, pensions, recognition of the dock yard workers' union and a promise not to dismiss the leaders of the strike movement. The strikers numbered thirty thousand.

Strikers in the Kakawasaki dock yard, the largest in Japan, issued a manifesto today in which they declared they wanted joint control of the ship yards. The manifesto proposed control of the dock yards by an industrial commission, the hours of labor to be six daily. In case the workers displayed inefficiency, the manifesto said, they could be turned over to a disciplinary committee.

PROGRESS BEING MADE IN IRISH PEACE PARLEY

SNAKE NEARLY BURNED UP AUGUSTA, KENTUCKY

AUGUSTA, July 15.—A six foot black snake refused to budge from his den under an old stump today. W. H. Winter, farmer near Augusta, decided to smoke out the reptile.

Fire spread to a twenty acre hay field. The field was dry. Appeals were sent to the fire department when the flames shot out in every direction.

Farmers, "for miles around" hurried to the scene and with the aid of a timely shower of rain, managed to save the city.

LONDON, July 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Another meeting between Eamonn DeValera and Premier Lloyd George took place today, this discussion of the preliminaries of the hoped-for Irish peace settlement, lasting about an hour and a half. At its conclusion it was announced the conversation would be resumed later, probably next Monday.

Today's conference, which continued about an hour and a half, was again a two man talk. In an adjoining room, however, Sir Horace Greenwood, the chief secretary for Ireland, Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary, Art O'Brien, president of the Gaelic League in London, and Robert C. Barton of the Irish delegation, were on hand should their presence be desired.

A member of Mr. DeValera's party gave definite assurance that nothing in the nature of a deadlock or a breakdown of the conference threatened at any time.

Meanwhile, Sir James Craig, the Irish premier, arrived in London today from Belfast, announcing on his arrival that he would see the premier this afternoon.

For an expression of opinion on the Irish situation, Sir James replied: "The Irish said now the better."

He added, however, that he was hopeful. At the Whitehall entrance to Downing street scenes similar to those of yesterday were witnessed as the meeting between the British prime minister and the republican leader was in progress. A large crowd awaited Mr. DeValera and cheered him as he entered Downing street, repeating the ovation as he and his companions left.

As the conference proceeded prayers for its success were said by the crowd in Whitehall, the men and women kneeling and reciting the Rosary.

FORCE USED TO GET MRS. KABER IN COURT

CLEVELAND, July.—Mrs. Era Catherine Kaber was carried into the court room by two bailiffs this morning, when her trial on a charge of murdering her husband, Daniel F. Kaber, was resumed. When seated she clutched the arm of the attending bailiff seated at her side and said sobs pleaded that he not leave her.

"Don't leave me, don't leave me; you won't leave me," she said.

William J. Corrigan, Mrs. Kaber's attorney tried to quiet her.

"I want to tell them; I want to tell them everything, but Mr. Corrigan won't let me," she sobbed to the bailiff.

Mrs. Kaber's hat had fallen from her head and her hair was disheveled.

Dr. P. A. Jacobs, who was county coroner at the time of the murder, testified that Mr. Kaber's death was caused by the stab wounds which he received on the night of July 18, 1919. He also declared that he thought Mrs. Kaber was "perfectly sane" when she testified at the inquest conducted before him.

"The defense rested its case suddenly late yesterday afternoon without placing Mrs. Kaber on the witness stand, following a fourth fainting spell suffered by her in the jail during the noon hour. Following this, she refused to submit to examinations by physicians, talk, even to her own counsel, or return voluntarily to the court room.

After physicians had informed the court that her physical condition was normal, Judge Damon ordered her brought into court, forcibly, if necessary. Two bailiffs partly carried her into the court room.

The state then began its rebuttal testimony by offering Dr. Charles W. Stone, who asserted that he believed Mrs. Kaber to be sane at the time of the murder and now.

"Mine Owners Frame Up Fake Battles"

WASHINGTON, July 15.—R. H. Kirkpatrick, former mine foreman for the Burnwell Coal and Coke Company, operating in the Mingo, West Virginia, coal district, testified today before the senate committee investigating conditions there that mine owners had "framed up" false shooting episodes to procure proclamation of martial law by the governor and so they would break the strike.

Kirkpatrick told a circumstantial story of how he and his superior officers had arranged to go out into the hills around the mine entrance and shoot back and forth to impress new mine workers brought in the field and to justify call for troops.

On cross examination by S. B. Avis, counsel for the operators, Kirkpatrick said that his son was an official of United Mine Workers and that he had himself been "done dirt" by the employing company.

Return To The American Plan Predicted

CHICAGO, July 15.—A return to the American plan by most hotels was predicted today by members of the American Hotel Association in convention here. That plan provides the guests with a better balanced menu, they said, enables him to know in advance the amount of his bill and to have his meals in the hotel where he lodged.

Union Heads Ordered Given To Military

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 15.—The supreme court of appeals here today ordered David Robb and eight other union leaders turned over to the state militia. They were arrested last week by Major Tom Davis, Governor Morgan's representative in Mingo county, charged under the governor's proclamation of martial law, with unlawful assemblage. Counsel for the United Mine Workers filed notice of appeal to the United States Supreme court.

Squares Accounts With Law

CHICAGO, July 15.—Constantine Kuhn, so conscientious that he went to prison unaccompanied and at his own expense, has squared accounts with the law. His body was buried yesterday, less than a week after he was sent home to die.

Kuhn attempted to rob a grocery while intoxicated, it was said. He was caught and convicted, but released pending an appeal to the supreme court. Months later his sentence of from one to fourteen years in the penitentiary was affirmed. No one came for him, however. Apparently his case was forgotten. One day he read about his case in the newspapers. He surrendered at once, but the authorities told him they had no funds to pay his way to prison and no authority to hold him.

"I'll pay my own way," he told them, and went alone to prison. His health failed under prison life and finally, it was found that he must die. Last Friday he was sent home. Four days later he was dead.

DISAPPROVE HARDING'S STAND

COLUMBUS.—Disapproval of President Harding's stand on the soldier bonus bill was expressed in a message sent from the state headquarters of the American Legion to call posts in Ohio.

HARDING FAVORS TAX ON PRODUCTION AT THE SOURCE; THREE CENT POSTAGE MAY RETURN

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1921, by Times Pub. Co.)
WASHINGTON, July 14.—President Harding has made it clear to the Republican leaders in Congress that he wants a tax program adopted which will lift restraint from business initiative. He is not committed to a sales tax, but is inclined to believe that a tax on production at the source can be imposed without adding to the burden of business.

While the tax program is in embryo condition, certain fundamentals are practically agreed upon. For instance, business men everywhere have been imagining that with the repeal of the excess profit tax the government would be obliged to increase materially the corporation taxes. The aim of the Harding administration, however, is to avoid any increase of corporation taxes. If possible, and only impose a slight addition in corporation taxes if necessary. There is indeed, no thought of making the corporation taxes a substitute for the excess profits tax.

Want Business Restraint Lifted
This decision ought to be good news to the business men of the country who have been worried over the prospect of a greatly increased incorporation tax. President Harding, however, feels that the revival of business in America is at this time a paramount consideration and that nothing should be placed in the way of business incentive. The repeal of the excess profit tax is a foregone conclusion and it is certain that the next revenue bill will not attempt to make the business and industries of the country carry the bulk of the load. Instead, the tax burden will be more evenly distributed by the use of every sort of stamp tax. The three cent letter postage may come back, and it seems assured that the old revenue stamps will be necessary on practically every kind of business transactions, from bank checks and drafts to real estate papers and other documents of purchase and sale, while these small taxes may prove annoying and inconvenient, the feeling is that such annoyance is hardly to be compared with the burden hitherto carried by business as a whole.

Taxes at best are disagreeable, but the government's job this time is to distribute them in such fashion as to stimulate a business revival.

Favor Tax on Production
The tax on production is favored as a substitute for the sales tax because it will not be so difficult to collect and will not be paid several times as goods pass from producer to consumer. The exact form of this production tax has not yet been determined, but it seems apparent that the tax will be imposed on the output of commodities very much as the present tax on automobiles is covered. In such cases, of course the manufacturer will pass the payment of the tax to the consumer, as happens with automobiles, but in the sales tax proposal the charges were that more than one tax would be imposed on the same article as it passed to various stages.

Expect Rapid Progress
The progress of the tax program is expected to be more rapid after the House finishes with the permanent tariff bill. Indeed, it is the administration's plan to have the senate side track the tariff bill, when it gets to the Senate by having lengthy committee hearings. The revenue bill agreed upon by Republican leaders will also be introduced in the Senate and referred to committee while it is being discussed in the House. It will mean

Hero Of Lost Battalion Dies In Hospital, Unidentified For Three Days

NEW YORK, July 15.—Full military honors marked the funeral today of Private John J. Monson hero of the Lost Battalion, who died in Bellevue hospital, after being taken ill while on leave of absence from his post in the regular army.

Monson died last Friday, and it was three days before his body was identified. As soon as it became known that he was the man who, on September 28, 1918, carried the message through the German lines that re-united the Lost Battalion in the Argonne, scenes of civic organizations planned that fitting honors might be paid him at his funeral. Today a column five blocks long marched behind the caisson that carried the body to the church of the Ascension, where a high requiem mass was said, and thence to Cypress Hills cemetery, where military services were held.

Technically Monson was absent without leave at the time of his death, but military officials declared the charge was dropped when it was learned that he was ill in a hospital at the time he was supposed to return to duty.

Movements have been started to erect a memorial to the heroic soldier.

Women And Children Not To Be Prosecuted

DAYTON, O., July 15.—Street railway officials announced today that they would not prosecute women and children who stoned and practically demolished one of their cars in a miniature riot yesterday.

Attack And Defend Guy's Paternity

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., July 15.—Attack and defense of the paternity of Guy Stillman were resumed here today in the divorce suit brought by James A. Stillman against Mrs. Anne L. Stillman. H. Phelps Clawson, of Buffalo, who testified yesterday that Mr. and Mrs. Stillman lived together on several occasions previous to the birth of the boy, was recalled to the stand. It was expected that attorneys for the New York banker would seek to break down the effect of some of Clawson's direct testimony by cross-examination.

Clawson was considered as one of the most important witnesses for Mrs. Stillman in the matter of combating Mr. Stillman's accusation that Guy was not his own child, but that of Fred Beauvais, Indian guide.

Pup Issue In Divorce Case

NEW YORK, July 15.—Custody of a Pekingese pup, little larger than a ball of yarn, is one of the issues in the marital woes of Daniel G. Reid, tin plate king and reorganizer of the Rock Island railroad. This became known yesterday, when counsel for Mr. Reid carried the dispute into the courts.

The Reids were divorced a few months ago. The banker made a cash settlement of $200,000 on Mrs. Reid and agreed to pay her thirty thousand dollars annually. There was an agreement that was set forth in court that disputes over household effects were to be arbitrated. Mrs. Reid's attorney argued before Justice McCook that the pup constituted a household effect, and that its possession should be submitted for arbitration.

The justice urged sides to submit briefs.

Mill Wages Reduced

YOUNGSTOWN.—Wages of sheet mill operatives were reduced about two per cent and those of tin mill workers about five per cent in the bi-monthly wage adjustment between independent manufacturers and the Associated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

The ordinance was passed, it was said, to break up the practice of using the city cemetery as a "lovers' lane."

PURSE AND KEYS RECOVERED

A purse and keys grabbed from Miss Anna Zeisler, 513 Glover street, last night about 9:30 o'clock by a boy 15 or 16 years of age, were found this morning, the $1.50 in money in the purse being the only thing missing.

Miss Zeisler and her mother, Mrs. John Zeisler were standing at Gallia and Bond streets, when a boy came up behind them and grabbed the woman's purse. A man who chanced to be nearby gave chase and had not stumbled he would have captured the young thief. This morning the purse with the handle strap torn loose was found on Fourth street between Sinton and Waller streets. Later in the morning the small purse containing the keys was found on an empty lot in the vicinity of Sixth and Glover streets. The money was kept in the small purse with the keys. The thief discarded the large purse when he discovered the money was in the smaller purse.

Local Men Rescue Imperiled Autoists

Sherman Brown and Lawrence Harrison, drivers of a truck for the Lewis Furniture company had a thrilling experience several days ago when they helped rescue several persons from a wrecked automobile which landed in a creek near Middletown.

The local men were on the way to Hamilton with a load of furniture and four miles from Middletown passed a Buick coupe containing four persons, two men and two women. Just after they passed the machine the local men heard a crash, stopped the truck and got off to investigate. They found that the coupe had gone over a sixty foot embankment and had landed in a creek. Brown and Harrison hurried to the bottom of the bank and assisted in getting the people out of the machine. The two men in the coupe were not seriously injured and climbed out of the wrecked machine. Brown assisted the smaller of the two women out and then Brown and Harrison assisted the two men in helping the other woman out. The second woman was a large woman and it was with much difficulty she was lifted out of the machine.

The machine kept slowly sinking while the work of rescue progressed and a few minutes after the second woman was rescued it was entirely submerged by the water of the creek. A passing autoist went to Middletown for an ambulance and within fifteen minutes the injured persons were on their way to the city. According to Brown it was thought that the larger of the women had her back broken, arms and legs broken and a bad cut on her head. The smaller of the women did not appear to be seriously injured but just before she was taken to the ambulance she gasped and the local men are of the opinion that she died.

Hoover Outlines Some Of Harding's Plans For Aid Of Commerce, Industry

CHICAGO, July 15.—Several of the points in President Harding's program for government assistance in the recovery of commerce and industry were outlined by Secretary Hoover in an address today here before the National Association of Manufacturers. "This great economic program of our president includes," Mr. Hoover said, "revision of our tax system, reduction of governmental expenditures, settlement of the tariff reorganization of the federal machinery for more efficient service, reorganization of our mercantile marine, refunding of foreign loans, relief of the credit from government, assistance to exporters of our commodities, upholding and safeguarding of our foreign commerce, assistance to our farmers by mobilization of private credit, expediting settlement of the obligations of the government to the railways, encouragement of the development of our great power resources, the systematic elimination of wastes in production and research and education upon improvements in our processes of production and distribution.

"The question of the purpose and place of the government in expediting economic recovery is raised in Washington every hour of the day," Mr. Hoover continued. "We are flooded with economic plan medicines that would enable the stern laws of economic recovery. The question of what the government can do becomes in part a question of whole attitude toward social and economic questions. Unless we would destroy individual initiative and drive ourselves straight into nationalization of paternalism, the government can not undertake to reduce or raise wages, or to deal in commodities, no matter how it is camouflaged."

One of the most difficult problems, the secretary declared, is that of housing. Estimating that nearly sixty per cent of the population is living as tenants, he asserted that "nothing is worse than an uneducated tenantry and landlordism in the country."

"First," he said, "the government must as a matter of primary duty drive every combination out of business that attempts to restrain trade. Second government to some degree, directly or indirectly, controls or directs the flow of credits and, therefore, has a responsibility toward this part of the problem. Third, the government can and should interest itself in dissemination of information, in scientific study of certain problems in materials and methods and in cooperation with the industries to receive voluntary reduction in wastes that the costs of home may be decreased."

The orders put in force the ruling by Attorney General Daugherty upholding an opinion by former Attorney General Palmer, that transshipment of goods from one foreign country to another by way of this country was in violation of the prohibition laws.

There is still some uncertainty as to the effect of the ruling upon liquor brought into American ports on foreign ships under certain circumstances, however, officials declared, adding that to clear up these points another opinion would be asked of Mr. Daugherty.

San Francisco Visitor

Evangelical Synod Convention Closes

With a most fitting program attended by a large number of young people the eighteenth annual convention and first convention of the Ohio District Sunday School Evangelical Synod, came to a close at the First Evangelical church last night. The evening was given over to addresses by Rev. P. Gehm of Piqua and Rev. Samuel Lindemeyer, of this city.

Some of the delegates who made the trip to the city by machine left Thursday evening for their homes while the majority remained over and started on the homeward journey this morning.

The delegates and visitors were loud in their praise of the local League for the manner in which they handled the convention and entertained them during the three day's visit here. The Ohio river boat excursion on the steamer J. P. Davis Thursday afternoon was a fitting close to the entertainment program provided by the local league. The boat went below the dam, it being the first time many had had the experience of being locked through a river dam.

Rev. P. Gehm is president of the Indiana District Evangelical Synod. He is a very able speaker and delivered a splendid address on "The Challenge to Christian Youth." In his remarks Rev. Gehm stated that every person has an allotted task in this world, that there is certain work laid out for each one, all working for the betterment of the world, in order to find the right way to meet these tasks one must watch the successful and follow in their pathways. He said that faith alone will carry one through all trials and troubles, faith being the essential factor in the fight toward the goal. Rev. Gehm stated that the disasters in the world have come through men failing to follow and accept the faith in the living God.

Rev. Samuel Lindemeyer, the other speaker of the evening had for his subject "As You Have Measured Go." He selected and gave to the conference as his guiding theme for the year, John 13:1.

"Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God; therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew Him not."

Officers elected Thursday morning were then installed. President Attorney William Schneider, of Columbus, on behalf of the League and Rev. R. J. Loew, of Strasburg, on behalf of the Sunday School convention used glowing words of praise in thanking the local people for the entertainment provided.

Local Autoists Robbed

CINCINNATI, O., July 15.—No trace has been found of two youths who late yesterday held up Thomas Jones, wife and child of Portsmouth, and robbed them of their automobile near Glendale, a suburb of this city. The family was eating lunch in the shade of a tree when the bandits drove up in a roadster. Both left the machine and covered Jones with a pistol and held him at bay while the other got into Jones' automobile and drove it away. The other bandit, who threatened to kill Jones, then got into the roadster and drove away. Mr. and Mrs. Jones and child were compelled to walk several miles to reach Glendale. They were enroute to this city to visit friends.

Says He Used Knife In Self Defense

Arrested at his home early Friday morning by the police on a warrant charging cutting with intent to kill, Nathan Mack, aged 37 years, negro, admitted the cutting when brought to Municipal court this afternoon, but claimed that he was attacked and only used the knife in his proper self defense.

The trouble occurred at Fifteenth and Kinney streets on the night of July 4. Mack claiming that he was struck and knocked down by a strange colored man who later proved to be Walter Carter, negro, who received several ugly lacerations about the face and head in the battle which followed. The accused denied that the altercation grew out of a row with Carter over the latter paying attentions to Boss Hurd, a well known colored dandy.

At the conclusion of the hearing Judge Sprague continued the case for further investigation and released the defendant on his own recognizance. Mack has been employed at a local shoe factory many years and has never before been in trouble.

3,000 Pounds Of Fish Taken From Old Bed

and a score of others with a big seine. The fish, which were principally of the carp species, weighed from one to twenty-five pounds and it required a two-horse team to haul them to the city. As a result of the seining party many families enjoyed fish for dinner Friday.

JAPS INFORMED OF SCOPE OF PARLEY

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The United States has informed Japan of its ideas on the scope of the disarmament conference. This action is intended to meet Japan's desire to know the extent to which Far Eastern affairs are to be discussed before she goes farther in considering an invitation to participate.

It is not now possible to state the extent to which the American government has gone into details but it is understood the communication is sufficient to afford material for a close study of the proposal by the Japanese foreign office.

Official circles here continue to evidence great confidence that a complete acceptance of the American invitation eventually will come from Tokyo.

City Briefs

John Henry Brown, Lucasville young man, denied guilt of a paternity charge when brought into Municipal court Thursday and Judge Sprague held him under $200 bond for his preliminary hearing on July 20. ## BOY FALLS FROM AUTO; JAW BROKEN

A fracture of the lower jaw near the chin was suffered by Robert Rockwell, 13 year old son of Mrs. William Rockwell of 903 Offshore street Thursday afternoon when he fell from a miniature board of a bus on Scioto Trail near the Bannan Farm.

The bus was carrying a number of young folks from the Second Presbyterian Daily Vacation Bible School to Dugan's Grove for a picnic and had been stopped to allow the driver, Tom Cropper, to inspect a tire. When the machine started up the Rockwell boy climbed onto the running board. It was not fastened securely and the lad fell to the paved roadway.

He was taken to Hempstead hospital, where Dr. Albert Beaudt attended him. An X-ray of the jaw fracture was taken by Virgil Fowler.

The boy displayed considerable nerve while the fracture was being reduced for he asked the physician not to let his mother know of the accident, thinking that he would be able to leave the hospital in a few hours.

The New Boston D. V. B. S. set out yesterday afternoon for their outing at Friendship in 13 machines and one truck. The following men of New Boston furnished machines: F. B. Cooper, Joseph Allen, Wm. Jenkins, Frank Duttel, John Meek, William Middaugh, two machines; Albert Aldrich, Wyatt Nichols, J. S. Davis, Birch Hunt, Rev. Britton, Robert McDowell and Owen Fitch.

These men deserve a great deal of credit for their kindness in the matter. The procession started at 1:30 and went to the First Presbyterian church where the West End school joined them and all proceeded to Friendship. A heavy rain there made the place rather muddy, but the sun came out and the ice cream came from Lucasville and the boys played ball and all were happy. ### MORE DETAILS OF BANK WRECKING

Additional details of manipulations that wrecked the Bank of Beaver were disclosed at the court hearing yesterday in Chillicothe. The Chillicothe Gazette tells of the proceedings as follows:

The renewed hearing of the Russell Brothers' bankruptcy case, involving the wrecked bank of Beaver, before Referee Robert Manly, Thursday morning drew a crowd so large that it packed the office of County School Superintendent Fortney, in the Carlsile block, which was used by Referee Manly for the hearing in order to accommodate the crowd.

The startling nature of the testimony at preceding hearings, which had been exclusively published by the Gazette, swelled the number of interested persons who wanted to hear further evidence of the case.

Waldo W. Russell was on the stand all morning and was questioned at length by Attorney Wilby G. Hyde, representing George W. Davis trustee in the bankruptcy proceedings. Attorney Lytle S. Evans, representing A. Elchberger, of Portsmouth, was also present and Col. Frank Hunter, representing the State Banking Department.

Keep Your Nose Clean
Common colds are infectious and dangerous—check them at once by using May's Pine Needle Balm. A pure, natural product of the northern pines. The many flu and pneumonia cases in the last few years should be a warning to take precaution against colds. Cold germs will not thrive in a nose that is kept clean and wholesome. May's Pine Needle Balm is as soothing and refreshing as a breath of pine forest mountain air. Catarrh of the nose is usually the result of neglected colds, clears up quickly when this beneficial pine fragrance is used. Sold in two sizes—30c and 60c tubes. Free trial by writing Geo. H. May, 219 W. Austin Ave., Chicago. May's Pine Needle Balm is for sale by Wood and Blake, Fisher and Strickland and druggists everywhere—advertisement.

ed far out beyond the business of running a garage and auto agency, and went into stock speculation with money borrowed from the now defunct bank of Beaver, was brought out in considerable detail in the testimony. It was stated by Russell that the money was borrowed largely on the firm's notes, but the stocks held mainly individually, the brothers giving personal notes to the firm. The stocks were chiefly oil, Texas textile and Mutual Resource Development stocks. The total put into stocks at various times ran up to some $6,600.

Grilled On "Notes"
Waldo Russell was questioned in detail regarding the payment and renewal of various notes given to the bank, and also as to the disposition of the money borrowed having been asked at the last hearing to bring into court records of these notes, etc. that he failed to have with him before.

The witness was unable, he said, to show from either the firm or the bank's records the "consideration" given for some of the notes. Personal and firm notes were in some instances inextricably tangled up in the records. Whether some notes, marked "paid," meant that cash was "received," the witness was unable to say.

A Clash Of Claims
It developed at the hearing that there is a bitter fight impending between the state banking department representing the interests of the bank and its depositors, and the trustee for the creditors of the firm of Russell Brothers. The state Thursday filed new claims for the bank. Attorney Hyde, representing the trustee, announced that he would approve all the claims of the bank while Col. Hunter, for the bank, objected strenuously to many questions asked the witness by Mr. Hyde. Old Testimony Gone Over

Much of the questioning covered previous testimony, which was given verbatim in the Gazette and which fully covered the most startling admissions as to manipulation of bank funds.

The hearing adjourned at noon until 1:30 p. m.

Afternoon Session
The room was again packed at 1:30 p. m. when the hearing was taken up, Waldo W. Russell again taking the stand, and being questioned by Attorney Hyde.

J. A. Wolf was present representing the state banking department, Levi Moore, prosecuting attorney of Pike county, and Attorney Chas. M. Caldwell, also of Pike county, were present to look after the interests of certain individual creditors of the Russell Brothers.

Russell testified that, at the time of liquidation, another note for $400 was held by a leading bank of Warrenton. It had originally, he said, been a note for $2,000.

Hyde—How do you explain to the creditors the large amount of money borrowed from the Bank of Beaver in that one year of 1920?

Witness answered by showing how various sums borrowed had been expended.

Hyde—"You were increasing your firm borrowings all the time, were you not?"

Witness—"Yes."

Gazette In Evidence

Copies of the Scioto Gazette, containing exclusively the previous testimony, were much in evidence at the hearing, being discussed and commented upon by those present.

Hyde—"Didn't you, in borrowing certain money, claim that you needed the money to buy Ford machines and trucks?"

Russell—"It was borrowed either to take up previous notes or to buy tractors, can't tell just how much went either way."

Here witness admitted that he had mis-stated both dates and amounts of two notes, for $1400 and $2200 borrowed at one time, but not borrowed from the bank. He did not say he had done this deliberately.

Having A Hard Time
The witness was asked to get up a pass book from the bank receipts. He said he would be glad to do it, but it would take much time and make him neglect his work in Columbus. He added he had been having a hard time making a living since this trouble began.

Referee: "Did you ever balance Russell Brothers' account?"
Russell: "We did. We bundled the checks. Some of them you will find in the bank, some in the garage."

Kitted Check Deposit Slips
Evans: "When you deposit a kitted check was there a deposit slip?"

Russell: "There was, I think."

Hyde: "You tried to sell your home after this trouble?"

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT MARTING HOME

Refreshed by the wonderful trip they enjoyed through England, Scotland, France and Belgium, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Marting of Eighth street arrived home last night, happy, but very tired. They enjoyed every minute of their trip and especially the days when they were shown through the famous battlefields of France.

They sailed on April 20 on the Olympic and returned on the same liner, reaching New York City on July 13.

Mr. Marting was a member of the delegation that spent six weeks in England and Scotland and Scotland and to bring the American drygoods dealers into closer touch with the foreign dealers. "Everywhere we went we found the friendliest kind of sentiment prevailed for America. Everywhere seemed to have a kind word for the U. S. A. and did not hesitate to so express themselves when they learned we were from the States. England fully appreciates what

Autos Crash Near Midnight; Man Hurt

K. G. Payne, a well-known N. & W. engineer, was cut about the left eye and on the left arm and had a close call from being seriously hurt at 12:30 this morning when his Ford machine and a big touring car driven by W. Beckman collided on Robinson avenue at the foot of Bannan Hill. Payne was thrown against the windshield, which was shattered, and Roy P. Wolfe, who was riding home with him, was thrown on top of Payne, the force of the impact wedging the two men between the front seat and the windshield. Beckman was accompanied by J. J. Hill and two women, but they were not badly hurt, one of the women suffering bruises about the head and shoulders. Both cars were badly damaged, the Ford being wrecked, according to Mr. Payne, who lives on a farm near the Five Mile church. When the collision occurred the Ford was running against the fence at the bottom of the Bannan Hill and struck it with sufficient force to tear down five panels and three concrete posts were snapped off at their base. Attorney Henry T. Bannan says the crash was so loud that it awakened him and he hurriedly dressed and visited the scene of the wreck. He says Payne's face was covered with blood. Later on he went to the office of Dr. O. R. Micklethwait, who looked after his injuries. One of the women fainted, but quickly revived. Beckman, who was driving the touring car, was coming up Fourteenth street and was turning into Bannan Hill when his car collided with the Ford. Payne says he heard the car coming and got over against the curb, giving it as much room as possible. "I even drove the front wheels over the curb onto the sidewalk to prevent the accident," Payne told Times men this morning. "The big car struck my machine squarely in the middle and spun us around like a top. Wolfe and I were showered with broken glass and for a few seconds I thought some one had been killed."

The touring car is owned by The W. E. Tripp Motor company and Beckman and Hill work for this firm. Payne called on W. E. Tripp this morning and he stated that he did not know the machine was out of the garage until he saw it in a badly damaged condition in his garage. "The car was driven by Beckman, and Hill was with him. They work for me and have never before been in any accidents," Mr. Tripp said this morning. "I did not give any one permission to use the car, which I received on a trade."

Negro Is Insane

Walter Carter, 24 year old negro, was adjudged insane at an inquest held in probate court Friday and Judge Gilliland ordered him committed to the Athens state hospital.

Carter is the man who was arrested Wednesday while in the act of attempting to rob the Goodpastor grocery and later attacked Chief Distel and Officer Stanley Schroeder when they went to question him in his cell at the city prison. In order to subdue the enraged man Officer Schroeder shot him in the knee and Chief Distel floored him with a blackjack after the negro knocked him down.

The mental condition of Carter is attributed to an injury he received in a fight at the street fair grounds in the North End on July 4. Previous to that time he exhibited no signs of being mentally unbalanced, the examination disclosed by the examination, which was conducted by Dr. W. W. Smith and E. W. Holbert.

The finding of Carter to be insane precludes any further proofing of the charge of highway robbery against him in Municipal court.

The case of Charles Yarnell, arrested at Lexington, Ky., and returned here on a charge of abandoning his wife, who is about to become a mother, was continued by Judge Sprague in Municipal court Thursday after the couple indicated a desire to patch up their trouble and resume their marital relations. The defendant expects relatives to come to his aid and pay up the costs in which event the accused will probably be released pending good behavior.

LIKE LEMONADE

You can now buy real epsom salts without the awful taste and nausea, by asking your druggist for a handy package of "Epsomade Salts" which looks and acts exactly like epsom salts, because it is pure epsom salts combined with fruit derivative salts giving it the taste of sparkling lemonade. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of cold water whenever you feel bilious, headache or constipated. "Epsomade Salts" is the much talked of discovery of the American Epsom Association.—Advertisement.

Charged With Shooting With Intent To Kill

Constable Tom Woods of Squire William McManes' court at New Boston arrested C. C. Withrow, telegraph operator for the C. & O. N. at Wheeler's Mills at his home in Sciotoville about four o'clock Thursday afternoon on a warrant charging him with shooting with intent to kill. He swore to the warrant against Withrow, who is alleged to have been the man with the gun who fired several shots at the officer on Mun's Run pike the night of June 12.

At the time of the shooting Constable Woods wanted to swear out a warrant for Withrow. It is claimed, but friends advised him to investigate before taking such action. He says he has been busy on the case ever since and yesterday signed the warrant against Withrow, the officer going to the man's home a short time later and placing him under arrest. He was placed under $2,000 bond by Squire McManes and on failure to give bond was placed in the county jail to await trial, which was set for four o'clock this afternoon.

Woods had been active in breaking up the practice of machines stopping along the Mun's Run road at night, and on the night of June 12, when he was on the job as usual, a man, who is thought to have stopped his machine a short distance down the road, walked up to the officer and asked if he was Constable Woods. The officer replied that he was the man and the stranger then pulled a gun and fired several times at him, escaping by running to his machine and driving away towards New Boston.

To Extend Carrier Service

Houses in these sections must be numbered and must have mail boxes to receive carrier service.

IRONTON MAN FACES SERIOUS CHARGE

THE MOVIES

The Silent Threat of Hidden Danger

Makes the most of her greatest opportunity in this powerful photoplay

AND IT'S MORE THAN WELL WORTH SEEING
Two Big Headliners Tonight at the Eastland Theatre—Alice Lake in "Uncharted Seas," Miss Lake's Most Powerful Photoplay and Larry Seamon, the Comedy King, in "The Bakery," Larry's Newest and Funniest Comedy.

Program
A—Larry Seamon in "The Bakery."
B—A Kinetograph Subject With Music.
C—Alice Lake in "Uncharted Seas."

As an enthralling picture as has been seen in a long time is "Uncharted Seas," the Metro special which comes to the Eastland Theatre tonight for a run of two days.

Alice Lake, known wherever pictures are enjoyed, has the leading role, and gives a dramatic interpretation, according to reports from critics who have seen this picture elsewhere.

It is "enthralling" because of its unusual plot and the method of working out the situations is consummate. Briefly, the story deals with Lucetta Eastman, whose husband is a moral delinquent, addicted to opium and loose women. Lucetta's cup of disgust brims over at last, but Tom's father entreats her to give him one last chance. The test is the finding of a deserted steamship loaded with ten millions of Klondike gold. Tom is given a seaworthy craft, and a rolling vessel, manned with desperadoes, is foisted on Frank Underwood, who loves Lucetta, and is loved by her. The cowardice of the one, and the courage of the other, as they go through heaving Straits leads to the heart-clutching climax.

If you don't like to laugh, it is not advisable to see "The Bakery." In this comedy Larry Seamon goes through myriads of queer stunts and keeps his spectators doubled up with laughter. Each scene is funnier than the previous. Larry, who has a fascination for different occupations, shows the humor in a baker shop. This is the funniest of his occupational comedies. Flour, dough, home brew, black paint, corn flakes, raspberry jam and human actors get entangled and as they are about to disintegrate, Seamon gives a number of hilarious plays, such as a color-changing out, the bread-winning mouse, and the stuck-up monkey make a good job of tangling them all up again. Larry also introduces his special hair-raising acrobatic stunts which have a comedy twist and for which his comedies have long been known.

EXHIBIT THEATRE
Starting Today for Two day the Exhibit Presents for First Showing in the City William Russell in "The Cheat Reformed," a William Fox Production. This is One of Russell's Best Photoplays. Also a Century Comedy. You can See First Run Fox Pictures at the Exhibit.

"The Cheat Reformed" is the title of the William Fox picture starring popular William Russell which begins an engagement at the Exhibit Theatre tonight. Don't imagine that the title gives away the story. It doesn't. No movie title could do that. Before the audience can catch its breath after the main title is exposed on the screen it finds itself in the midst of the most delicious sort of dramatic entanglement. Imagine a crook taking advantage of his own brother's death in assume the brother's position as rector of a fashionable church, and no one suspecting the fraud—not even the clergyman's widow. That is something to think about.

SUN-TIMES GAME IS SET FOR MONDAY

Next Monday afternoon at the Industrial League grounds, The Times and Sun baseball aggregations will play off the game which had to be postponed Thursday on account of wet grounds.

The managers of the two nines agreed Thursday afternoon to play the next game at York park, but Thursday night the Sun players after a conference with their manager announced that the game would have to be played on the Sixteenth street lot as they had practiced there several nights. That's all right with the Times gang for they are eager and ready to meet the opposition any day, any place, the sooner the better.

Monday afternoon, the day set by the Sun gang, is entirely satisfactory to the Times aggregation.

The time set for the game by the Sun nine is at the close of a two days' vacation for them and it is hoped they will be in fine shape and ready for the contest by that time. The game is to be called at 2:30 o'clock.

Considered His Case Hopeless Says Geo. Coren

Many wonderful endorsements have been given Tanlac, but it is doubtful if any more clearly and forcefully illustrates the remarkable reconstructive powers of the medicine than that of George Coren, well known retired business man, residing at 431 Ohio St., Massillon, Ohio.

Mr. Coren, in a recent interview with the special Tanlac representative, who had heard of his unusual case and called to ascertain the facts, told the following astonishing story:

"I suffered from stomach trouble for twelve years. Even the lightest food would not digest properly, and caused spells of bloating, severe pains and shortness of breath that was simply torture. I ate only when it seemed that I had to in order to keep soul and body together, for I actually preferred to stay away from food, because of the agony it caused me. I became very nervous, could not sleep well, and felt weak and tired all the time. My shoulder blades were racked with pain, and I was so weak I could not hold myself straight, and just dragged around like a man in his last stages."

"Even before leaving Europe and coming to this country, I had the best treatments by specialists in Berlin, Vienna, Warsaw and Gdansk, all without receiving any benefit. Then after coming here I tried a number of other specialists with the same disappointing results."

"Well, it looked like my case was hopeless. My condition was steadily growing worse, and at the time I got Tanlac I had no hope of ever being a well man again."

"But after taking two bottles of this medicine I began to feel better, and six bottles have made me feel like a different man. I've gained twenty-nine pounds in weight, can eat anything I want, always enjoy my three good meals everyday, and nothing hurts me the least bit. I have no pains of any kind except like a child, and am enjoying life better than I have in years."

"All my strength and energy has come back to me, and I feel strong and vigorous all the time. It is wonderful what Tanlac has saved my life. I was just about down the 'last notch.' I will gladly tell anyone personally of what Tanlac has done for me, as I feel that nothing I could say for the medicine could express the gratitude I really feel for my recovery."—advertisement.

Pitchers Are Rounding Into Real Form

NEW YORK, July 15.—Big league pitching has become so effective, with hot weather that talk of the lively ball has subsided recently, says a fan who thought so much of his solution, of the mystery that he wrote to the newspaper about it today. As proof he cites the following in recent games:

Alexander, of Chicago, held the Giants to one run, scored on an error. Nehf, of the Giants, held Chicago to three hits and no runs.

Ryan, of the Giants, held Chicago to one run.

Tyler, of Chicago, gave the Giants one earned run, but lost the game through an error by a team mate.

Kerr and Faber, of the Chicago Americans, showed how lively the ball is by holding the Yankees to a few hits.

Faber held Washington yesterday to three hits, making his season's record eighteen victories and six defeats.

To Investigate Conduct Of Ironton Minister

The Ironton Register Thursday evening said:

Wednesday the Register carried an editorial squib purporting to have quoted from the remarks of a local minister relative to the alleged conduct of some girls of the city. The Register had heard from a half dozen different sources that the minister had spoken in a very bold manner of the conduct of these girls who range in ages from 13 to 15 or possibly 16 years of age. At the time of the writing we were not advised as to the true situation but took the minister's words at their face value.

We did not know that since Sunday the mothers and fathers of these same girls were up in arms over the stories that had been told them by the girls upon their return from a few days outing which was attended by the minister and his wife.

Formal charges against the minister are to be made to his church officials, alleging that he furnished the tobacco and paper for the cigarettes he charges the girls with smoking; that the strong language used by one of the girls was provoked by an alleged act of the minister; that the minister slept in the same room occupied by several of the young girls, his wife making no outcry about his presence.

The Register knows nothing first hand of the guilt or innocence of the minister, but if the stories told by these young girls are true, and we have no inclination to doubt them, then there is no place in this community for him. If he furnished the cigarettes to those girls (and they say he did) he is either a moral pervert, an idiot or a dangerous character. If he furnished the first cigarette to innocent girls, and sat and watched them smoke, there can be no palliation for the offense. We are not passing upon the merits or demerits of the charges that are being made by the girls to their shocked and aggrieved parents; that is either for the officials of his church or the courts to decide, but we do say and say emphatically that if the charges of the girls have a semblance of truth, then drastic and immediate action is necessary. We understand that one of the girls has been compelled to go to her bed from nervous shock over the rather sensational turn the affair has taken. We refrain from mentioning other charges the girls are making to their parents about what went on at their camping place, leaving these matters to be presented to the minister's church board. We also refrain from mentioning any names in connection with the affair, but these alleged facts are given at the request of the parents of the girls. The minister and his wife know whether or not the allegations of the young girls are true; they know about the alleged cigarette smoking and who furnished the material; they know whether or not the minister showed the girls how to play several games with cards, among them poker; they know whether or not the minister occupied a room as sleeping quarters that was occupied by several of the girls. If a single one of the allegations is true then no amount of defense can possibly justify his continued residence in this community.

The parents of some of the seventeen girls who were in the camping party have confided in the editor of The Register some of the other alleged sensational conduct of the minister while at the camp, but we refrain from using these charges at this time.

Why Not Bring Them To U. S. A?

PARIS, July 15.—The conflict between the Paris municipal council and the French Olympic committee over the choice of a location for the 1924 olympiad is endangering the olympic games so far as Paris is concerned, declares Franz Reichel, secretary of the olympic committee.

The selection of a place where the games are to be held, he says, lies exclusively with the committee, which meets next Tuesday, and unless the council recedes from what the committee terms its "dictatorial position," the organization of the games will be abandoned.

It is figured by the committee that Pershing stadium, which was designated as the field for the games in a recommendation adopted by the municipal council Wednesday, is too small to accommodate crowds for local meets and will be woefully inadequate for the olympic contests.

There will be some entirely new amusements provided this year. These have all been secured with a view to giving those who will visit the fair some real thrills. Auto polo—the latest development in exhibition games.

To see these players in action with their stripped flippers romping and bucking down the center of the field in pursuit of the polo ball, is certain to enthrall everyone. These games are to be staged three times daily.

Several "speed kings" have been secured for the Friday automobile races. Besides the entries for the various horse races will soon be completed.

This year, the directors of the fair will be more interesting and more entertaining than in former years. And with the completion of the paving of Scioto Trail, plans have been made to accommodate crowds numbering ten thousand on big days.

More Space To Park Cars; Auto-Polo To Feature Fair

Parking privileges at the Twenty-seventh Annual Scioto County Fair, to be held at the Lucasville fair grounds August 9 to 12 inclusive, will be conducted in an entirely new manner, according to L. Taylor, president of McDermott.

Arrangements have been completed for securing 6 additional acres just south of the grounds. This space together with the southern portion of the old grounds will be laid off into areas. There will be areas for automobiles and areas for horse-drawn vehicles. Traffic regulations, now being worked out permit the crowds to leave the ground in a much more efficient and orderly manner than in former years.

THE THEN AND THE NOW

Mrs. David Lawrence, Washington correspondent, who has a reputation for reliability, says: "Soldier bonus legislation is dead, at least so far as this session of congress is concerned. President Harding is more or less committed to a soldier bonus. He is on record to leaders of the American Legion, advising them 'not to worry about the bonus,' but he can not give his approval at this time."

That surely is most interesting. Blithely as a candidate, somewhere and somehow Harding obligated himself, more or less, to a certain course of action and due record of the same was made, it appears. Now in the presence of the grave financial condition of the country, he is unwilling that the obligation be discharged; rather would he have it deferred to some future and indefinite occasion.

Any way it is looked at that does not appear an auspicious predicament for even "an amiable administration" to be in. Before the instrument was signed, sealed and delivered and the consideration passed the obligor should have informed himself as to the possibility, as well as the advisability, of keeping the compact. The situation of the national treasury, anywhere within the past nine months, hasn't been materially different from what it is today.

As to the appropriateness of a candidate putting himself under "more or less obligation" to a special class or interest, there may well be serious question. Certainly it is altogether meet that any man aspiring to a position may well and properly state his views and policies, but that is entirely different from an obligation, a pledge to a certain course to acquire support from special influences.

If President Harding be in this matter correctly presented his appearance before the senate in his official capacity and advising against the passage of the bonus bill must have had other embarrassment than the knowledge that he is going to grievously disappoint and most likely incur the hostile of once strong supporters. Still he should be given the credit of having the courage to stand out openly for what he esteems the wiser action.

WHAT ABOUT SCIOTO COUNTY

DURING the month of June 1401 Ohio farmers, from eleven counties signed a pledge never to have "a scrub sire," bird or beast, on their lands and to use only pure bred bulls, stallions, hogs, rams, jacks and roosters.

That means that an average of one of every eight farmers is pledged to improve his live stock of all sorts. That is not many, but nevertheless, it is an excellent beginning. All movements towards betterment are of slow inception and the chief point in this particular one as promising as any other is sure to grow and expand until it becomes generally accepted.

Though not definitely informed thereon, we are of the opinion that Scioto county is one of the counties giving the pledge. Anyway, we know that since the advent of the county agent, a few years back, a most decided progress has been made towards the raising of pure bred stock of all sorts. One difficulty encountered here and one common along all such lines, is the wide and pronounced difference of opinion as to what are the best breeds. There are farmers who can see nothing in the way of cattle, hogs and chickens, to compare with Poll Angus, Berkshire and Rhode Island Reds, while others can see nothing but Holsteins, Duroc Jerseys and Plymouth Rocks, while another class will say the Jerseys, Poland Chinas and White Leghorns, who are furiously denied by advocates of the Herefords, Chester Whites and Brahmas.

Now, the best policy would be for a county to accept only one line of each breed, but that is a solution of the highest betterment that must be worked out later. Meantime, let it be understood that the main desire is to secure and maintain pure breeds. For truth to say, one thoroughbred is in finality. All have their separate points of advantage. If some cattle grow bigger than others, the others give more and richer milk; if some hogs put on more flesh than others, others mature more quickly and with less feed; if some chickens lay more than others, others make finer table food, thus one favorable quality being offset by another of equal or more importance according to the other.

So it is important to discuss merits and demerits of various strains, the one thing worth while is to accept the inevitable fact that pure breeds pay best and to resolve to propagate none other.

MUCH JUNK AND MORE BUNK

ANOTHER legislative force has had the curtain rung down on it with the usual result, tax-payers' money wasted and the game of cheap politics exposed.

Last winter the assembly investigated the state highway department, just so far, losing scent entirely when the trail led strong to the outside where a bunch of Republicans were mixed up in some shady combinations and conspiracies. They quit with a severe criticism of A. R. Taylor, Democratic superintendent, because he has disposed of a lot of old road machinery at private sale. They waxed so fierce about the outrage that when L. E. Herlick succeeded Taylor he resolved a new policy was advisable. In pursuance thereof he put up surplus and unnecessary road machinery at public auction. There were trucks, graders, automobiles, plows, harness and what not in multitude. The sale was a complete failure. Trucks and machinery didn't even bring the price of junk. Harness, practically unused, that has cost $42 a set, sold for seven and a road grader, that had never been so much as unboxed, costing $5,000 brought the stupendous sum of $26.

It may be explained that the reason the state has so much surplus junk on hand is that it was wished on it by the federal government, who found it an incubus, even on its broad back, when the war came to sudden collapse.

WILSON VS. ROBINSON

BOSTON, July 15.—Johnny Wilson, for the second time since he won the middleweight championship from Mike O'Dowd, will defend his title here tonight in a ten round decision bout. He will meet George Robinson, a negro boxer, who has a 12 round decision over Wilson in 1917.

Robinson obtained before Wilson became champion. In two ten round decision bouts Robinson had been credited with the popular verdict by sport writers.
An invitation to view the bout was extended to Tex Rickard, in view of Wilson's challenge to meet Carpenter for the light heavy weight title.

OUR CHEAP EDUCATION

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 14.—The United States must spend about six times as much as it does now for education before we can hope to make the schools satisfactory and the education necessary for our children the education necessary for good citizenship, for democracy and for industrial efficiency.

This statement is based upon recent studies made by the Bureau of Education, which show that the United States does not begin to use a proportionate part of the national income for educational purposes and the results obtained from such meager funds as have been grudgingly appropriated by the different states emphasize that fact. Another recent report issued by the Committee on Education of the House of Representatives shows that the United States ranks about ninth among civilized nations in literacy. This statement is based upon average figures and figures.

In the United States the percentage of literacy is 77 for the total population, over 10 years of age, and 83 percent for the native white population. In Denmark, Germany, Holland, Sweden, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom the percentage of literacy is higher than that for the native white population of the United States. The Bureau of the Census states that this list should probably include Norway, although no figures are available for that country. There is also less literacy in Australia than in the United States. In Bulgaria, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Portugal, Roumania, Russia, Serbia, Spain and non-European countries other than Australia, the percentage of literacy averages much higher than in the United States, extending from 83 to 70 per cent of the population.

The Average Cost. The total cost of the United States is $300,000,000,000, and an annual income of about $70,000,000,000. The Statistical Division of the Bureau of Education says that only $763,678,080 is spent each year for the education of young America. The average total paid by the United States for 13 years of a child's education—educating the pupil from the age of 6 years to normal graduation from high school, when 10 years old—is $282. The lowest average paid for the education of each individual by a state is $63, and the highest, $337. The state paying the highest is Montana, which pays almost exactly 10 times the amount paid by those giving the least, which are Alaska, Alabama, Massachusetts, Kansas, and Nebraska.

With the exception of the District of Columbia, the far western states lead in generosity along this line. In this country we belatedly acknowledge that all things depend upon education. We spend only an average of $2,028.28 per day for the purpose of educating more than 27,000,000 boys and girls between the ages of 6 and 19. Including children of kindergarten age there are more than 30,000,000 children in this country to be educated. This means an expenditure of about seven cents per day for the education of each individual child above six years of age. Moreover, it has been shown by the Bureau of Education that the average individual in the United States gets only about six years of schooling.

The Army mental tests proved illiterate to be common in the United States among the young men, adults, and the excessive popularity of the educational courses offered to men enlisting in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps proved by their power as drawing card, that a growing need is felt for more education. It has been stated by the War Department that nearly 50 per cent of the men who enlisted stated that they desired to enlist so as to get the educational advantages offered by the service. Similar in popularity are the courses offered by the Marine Corps Institute, and the privileges of specialized education along certain trade and professional lines offered to men in the navy.

Learning Is In Demand. Vocational rehabilitation of the wounded soldiers and the increasing demand for such training among executive men all over the country, emphasize the popular desire for a more complete education. In looking over lists of particular cases asking such training, it is appalling to note the number of incapacitated men with families to support who did not get beyond the fourth grade in school. A man of 21 has an average of 44 years of productive life before him, provided he has been so taught and trained as to enable him to preserve his health and strength. Former United States Commissioner of Education L. P. Claxton says that if $1500 were paid for the education spent over a period of 44 years, the cost would be less than $3 a year.

The investment problem resolves itself into this simple question: Will the average man or woman with such education and training as could be given at a cost of $1500, instead of $252, produce enough more in taxable values to reimburse the state for the extra expenditure? In view of these suggestions, as set forth by estimates made by the Bureau of Education, the far western states have found larger funds for educational purposes a good investment. Montana, California, Nevada, Washington, the District of Columbia, the only eastern exception, Wyoming, Colorado, and Idaho, head the list in the largest amounts appropriated for such purposes with sums ranging from $337 per individual in Montana, to $415 in Idaho.

In considering the investing of $1500 for the education of each child in the United States, as suggested by Mr. Claxton, one should take into consideration the fact that this amount will give elementary and high school education to all, in schools manned by competent teachers and adequately equipped. Moreover, such an appropriation would provide the higher education of the college university, professional and technical schools for two or three times as many as now get it. It would also allow opportunity for correspondence education for all those unable to attend a college or any other school of higher education.

Pay the Teachers More. "The cheapest thing in the world is a good teacher at any reasonable price," to quote Mr. Claxton again. "The time, intellect, life and character of our children are too precious to be wasted and misused by teachers who are incompetent. The work of the teachers is the most important work done in America. More depends on it than the work of any other class of men or women."

How much does the United States spend on its teachers? North Carolina is at the bottom of the list with an average salary of $284 the year. The average salary paid teachers is less than the wages paid scrub-women or ditch-diggers, according to the Committee on Education of the House of Representatives. There is only one state in the Union which pays an average teacher's salary of over one thousand dollars a year. California leads the states with $1,012. The District of Columbia, however, goes this figure one better, granting an average annual salary of $1,032. After these two, the only states paying an average annual salary of over $900 are New York, Arizona, Washington and New Jersey.

This is a country of poor schools and underpaid teachers. With all our wealth it is hard to get a decent education in America. When we have fully grasped this fact we may do something about it.

OAK HILL

Haydn Shaffer, for some time local manager of Summers and Sons' music store, has gone to McArthur where he is shiftlessly employed. He spent Sunday with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Shaffer of Railroad street.

John S. Jones of Jackson, spent Wednesday with his daughter, Mrs. Emory Morgan.

The baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown of Corning, Ky., was christened one evening last week by Rev. J. E. D'Herb at the M. E. parsonage. Mr. and Mrs. Brown and baby have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bert Shumate of Route 4.

Mr. Ed Lambert and three children of Springfield, came Tuesday for a visit with local relatives.

Gerald, young son of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Tope, was successfully operated on for adenoids at Schirrmann hospital at Portsmouth, Tuesday.

Gordon Faulkner, seaman on U. S. S. Dixie, who, since the death of his mother, made his home with his grandfather, J. N. Foster, is enjoying a month's leave of absence, the first since his enlistment in 1919. Young Faulkner, whose term of enlistment has expired, has re-enlisted for four years. A brother, Wendell Faulkner, also in the navy, is now in a training school preparing for examination as chief on U. S. S. Nevada.

Compensating her small daughter, Margaret Eleanor's tenth birthday anniversary, Mrs. T. M. Jones delightfully entertained several young people at her home on Maple avenue, Monday evening from 5 to 7 o'clock.

The hours passed pleasantly in games and contests, the winners being presented with gifts which were made by the young honoree. A large birthday cake with ten candles formed the center of attraction. Miss Jennie Mae Jones assisted Mrs. Jones in serving waffles and orange, cake and cream. The little miss received many beautiful presents. Those enjoying the evening were: Margaret, Emma, Elizabeth and Ruth Dixon of Jackson, Fern Morgan, Eloise Kidway, Mary Louise Morgan, Roma Senlock, Dorothy Faulkner, Edith E. Lovett, Dorothy Chentwood, Margaret Hughes, Louise Davis, Irma Dale, Leona Hughes, Aracelle Lambert, Elizabeth Thomas, Helen Edith Jones, Pauline Davis, Robert Thomas Hughes and Edward Jones.

May Submit To Operation

Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Wertz left Thursday for Baltimore, where Mr. Wertz will enter the Johns-Hopkins hospital for treatment. It is possible that he may have to submit to a surgical operation.

Where She Is Now

(New Republic)

Where she is now, I cannot say—The world has many a place of light.

Perhaps the sun's eyelashes dance On hers, to give them both delight; Or does she sit in some green shade, And then the air, that lies above, Can with a hundred blue eyes find Look through the leaves and find my love?

Perhaps she dreams of life with me, Her cheek upon her fingertips; O that I could leap forward now, Behind her back, and with my lips Break through those curls above her nose.

That hover close and lightly there—To prove if they are substance, or But shadows of her lovely hair.

What You'd Call Hard Luck. "They tell me Hardup is in a desperate fix," said Bolt.

"Yes," answered Nutt. "He's so pinched for money these days he can't even afford to lie."

Sorry He Spoke

"I like a pretty face," remarked the lazy bookkeeper.

"Is that why you watch the clock so much?" was the sarcastic comment of the boss.

A Human Derelict

"How did you happen to get her?" asked the sympathetic prison visitor. "Well, lady," answered Hard Boiled Pete, "you might say I was a victim of the sea. First I fell for a Marcel wave, and then long came the crime wave that washed me up here."

A Slight Mistake

An old gentleman of eighty-four having taken to the altar a young damsel of about fifteen, the clergyman said to him:

"The font is at the other end of the church."

"What do I want with the font?" said the old gentleman.

"Oh, I beg your pardon," said the cleric. "I thought you had brought this child to be christened."

What Would You Have Said

A pretty young woman stepped into a music shop in Syracuse the other day. She tripped up to the counter where a new clerk was sorting music, and in her sweetest tones asked: "Have you 'Kittie' Me in the Moonlight?"

The clerk turned, lo! and said: "It must have been the man at the other counter. I've only been here a week."

Sure To Be Light

"I think you need more footlights on the stage," said the theatrical manager who had hired the hall for a performance.

"Oh, you'll find the house light enough when you come to give your show, I reckon," replied the man who owned the hall and knew the town.

Both Wonderful

"See the spider, my son, spinning its web," said the instructive parent to his small son. "Is it not wonderful? Do you reflect that no man could spin that web, no matter how hard he might try?"

"Well, what of it?" replied the up-to-date offspring. "Watch me spin this top. No spider can do that, no matter how hard he might try."

Too Sudden

They met at a dance, and after a few dances together sat down. Silence followed.

He looked at her, she looked at him. More silence.

Then at last George asked: "Daisy will you be my—"

"Oh, George," cried Daisy, "this is so sudden! Give me a little time—"

"Partner for the next dance," concluded George.

"To get my breath back," also continued Daisy between puffs. "I haven't quite recovered from the last shuffle yet."

Needless Exertion

Jimmy's mother was giving him a sound scolding about his unwashed neck.

"You know you haven't washed your neck," said his mother.

"Gee whizz," said Jimmy, a note of desperation creeping into his voice. "I ain't going to wear a collar!"

For Success

I'd rather be a Could Be. If I could not be an Are, For a Could Be is a May Be.

With a chance of touching par, I'd rather be a Has Been Than a Might Have Been by far; For a Might Have Been has never been, But a Has was once an Are.

—Stanford Chaparral.

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 15.—Thoughts while strolling around New York: A day for a sunset! Puffs of clouds, egg beaten white. California sunshine and the chirp of robins. My carter has slipped down again. A black cat dozing on a little white coffin in an undertaker's shop. There they go! Lionel, Ethel and Jack. Ain't it grand?

Cocktail shakers in every window. A pompous capitalist. I interviewed him once. A jeweler in Newark and a poet in New York. A porch draped with ivy. And a hammock! A world of little blind street, dock loiterers. Pimping young men that are hard, matter-of-fact and cruel.

Across the way the old grocery where stupefied men were shanghaied. Now it is a paint shop. Pullman porters awaiting their next call. Wholesale linen stores. They look old fashioned. The salesmen are old and dignified. The rattle dangle of Forty Second street. A thrice married lady. A Don under each arm. And an expression of hand nerved.

A motor truck piled with crates of bowling balls. Street signs what my resolve to become a vegetarian. But imagine eating pursnips for breakfast. Ten theatrical costumes in one building. Foreign patriarchs carrying the banner. Most of them too old to work. I like to watch the groups reading the signs in front of an employment agency. There must be romance in going to a strange place.

German acrobats in tight getting a breath of air on a theatre fire escape. Free violet ray treatments at a drug store window. You touch a certain spot and blue flames dart out. Wonder if it might improve a feeble memory. If meeting so I even forget my monthly bills. Imaginative and grotesque sculpture near the craze. Some foreigner with a name like a sneeze comes over here. Throws a hunk of clay out of a window. Picks it up carefully and invites all the art critics to eat it. The next day he's famous.

The Polles-features an American version of the French song "Mou Homme" with an elaborate Urban setting of Brooklyn Bridge. Urban has given to the big bridge the eerie atmosphere of the old tenement and a hint when Old Mag, the toothless hag, cackled over the corpse of Jean Hattaway, the smooth city chap. The song registers the hit of the evening.

In the chain cigar stores in New York, the clerks invariably announce the size of any bill given to them for a purchase before depositing it in the cash register for change. The other day I asked one clerk why this was done. The explanation was simple. For many years clerks were flummoxed by customers declaring the bill presented was larger than it was. Many times it was innocently a mistake. But the majority of times it was petty grafting. The clerks now have to stand such losses and so after receiving a bill, they look at it, announce the denomination before ringing up the purchase. It stopped the flummoxing but the crooks will start something new.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

By W. G. SIBLEY

The Sibley Service, Gallipoli, Ohio.

Man A Pop Bottle. About ten gallons of water and air of about equal cubic displacement constitute an essential part of the bulk of a healthy human being, says our favorite medical devotee of the type, writer, Dr. Woods Hutchinson, in one of his frequent magazine articles. The air comes to us and goes from us without conscious effort. In hot weather we shed through our pores much of the water we drink. But we should take and shed more, because it takes with it many impurities the body should be rid of. The doctor thinks we should swallow three gallons a day to do ourselves justice. Taking eight hours off for sleep, we have sixteen hours in which to gulp twelve quarts. That's a pint and a half an hour—enough to keep any man fairly busy and a real test of capacity.

The air and water mix in our system "almost as the fizz in soda water," says the learned writer, through which there is a constant "backward and forward play of electrical currents" which give us life. We are indeed wonderfully made and wonderfully exercised. Internally, fountains of air, water and electricity bubbling all the day. And gizzling, too, if we maintain the proper proportion of moisture, unless our public adviser has miscalculated. Dr. Saragrad in "Gill Blas" had nothing on Dr. Hutchinson, except that he prescribed the water hot, which is a little more than anybody could make popular in the dogdays.

These Relucting Times. This is a confounding, confining and confounding-consuming world. "A splendid globe" as H. G. Wells tells us, originally and at present highly "gaseous" when hot air can be made profitable. The news of the day demonstrates the fact.

Impertinence: Four rolling, rambling British tars, with sea-going "quats" on dropped into Omaha awfully hard up, but loaded down with "smezzled furs" of great value—fox and ermine—a part of which they disposed of to sporting speculators for $5,000. The confounding layers had rabbit and deer skin when their purchase was assayed.

In the same city the police department, wishing to conserve a first diminishing supply, turned over confiscated liquors to the value of $100,000 to the city's hospitals. Result: State and federal prohibition officials running around in circles.

The experiment of a Harvard professor is recalled. He had a man rush into his classroom, flourish a pistol, and display symptoms of homicidal mania. The man was seized and taken away amid much excitement. When the professor had the students present during the scene write down exactly what had happened. The Times says: "No two of the narratives were alike in their descriptions of the man, or in even the important details of what he had done."

"The experiment proved that a number of people after witnessing the same event cannot tell the exact same story about it. The courts have found this so universal that discrepancies in the testimony of witnesses strengthen their evidence because they eliminate suspicion of collusion. Several witnesses all testifying exactly alike are regarded as too good to be honest."

Another interesting parlor experiment is to have one person read a few lines which another writes and reproduce them from memory, and continue the process through several persons. What the last person writes is likely to be widely different from what the first person wrote.

Cities that cling to fireworks and cannon crackers in celebrating the Fourth, with Chinese mentality, have their mourning families, as usual, and the lockjaw cases are not yet in.
